Statistics for Criminology and Criminal Justice, Fourth Edition offers students a practical and comprehensive introduction to statistics and highlights the integral role research and statistics play in the study of criminology and criminal justice. Packed with real-world case studies and contemporary examples utilizing the most current crime data and empirical research available, students not only learn how to perform and understand statistical analyses, but also recognize the connection between statistical analyses use in everyday life and its importance to criminology and criminal justice.

Written by two well-known experts in the field, Ronet D. Bachman and Raymond Paternoster continue to facilitate learning by presenting statistical formulas with step-by-step instructions for calculation. This “how to calculate and interpret statistics” approach avoids complicated proofs and discussions of statistical theory, without sacrificing statistical rigor. The Fourth Edition is replete with new examples exploring key issues in today’s world, motivating students to investigate research questions related to criminal justice and criminology with statistics and conduct research of their own along the way.

Criminology and Criminal Justice (Criminol Crim Justice). Publisher: SAGE Publications. Journal description.Â In praising criminology for its centrality to the key debates for social scientists and citizens in the new millennium, Zygmunt Bauman has observed that we learn most about things when they go wrong. Criminology and Criminal Justice aims to provide an international forum dedicated to critical debate in these important areas. The shift in the title from Criminal Justice to Criminology and Criminal Justice does not mean that earlier interests in criminal justice and penal theory and practice will be neglected. Criminology & Criminal Justice is a peer-reviewed academic journal covering the field of criminology. The journal's editors-in-chief are Michele Burman, Laura Piacentini and Sarah Armstrong. It was established in 2001 and is published by Sage Publications in association with the British Society of Criminology. The journal is abstracted and indexed in Scopus and the Social Sciences Citation Index. According to the Journal Citation Reports, its 2018 impact factor is 1.277, ranking it 29 out of 61
